DEMOCRATS HOLD ROUSING MEETING

Large Gathering of Democrats
Addressed by District Chairman Bechtel—Registration
Law Interpreted by Parks.

A large crowd of democratic precinct committeemen, workers and candidates, met in the democratic headquarters Wednesday evening in response to a call issued by the township chairman, John Enger, who called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock. Dist. Chairman Daniel E. Bechtel of Goshen was the first speaker and complimented the workers for the active spirit they have shown through out the campaign for registration. Mr. Bechtel related his experiences in his visits to the various counties in the district and stated that in no place has he found a better organization than in St. Joseph county, while their activities have been very quiet and have not been demonstrated with rallies and red fire, the effective work has been accomplished by the precinct and house to house work. County Chairman Rudolph Ackerman of South Bend was the next speaker and advised the workers to continue their good work and register their voters on next Monday.

Bert T. Klysz, candidate for county recorder, George Y. Hepler for state representative, and John Truax for county assessor were present and also addressed the meeting. Isaac Kane Parks of this city was the last speaker and confined his remarks to the registration, interpreting the law as amended by the recent legislature which is as follows:

Every male person who would be entitled to vote at the coming election in November, is entitled to register. In other words, a person, must now have the same qualifications to vote at the November election as were required of a person in previous elections, the only difference being that a person now, in addition to possessing the same qualifications must register. Any male person not now 21 years of age, but who will be 21 years of age or before November 3rd, is entitled to vote. Any male person who is not now a naturalized citizen of the United States, but who intends to become naturalized or to take out his first papers before election day in November, is entitled to and must register in order to vote. Every male citizen of the United States, of the age of 21 years and upwards, who shall have resided in the state during the six months and in the township 30 days immediately preceding the election, and who shall have declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States conformably to the laws of naturalization, prior to June 29, 1906, shall be entitled to vote at the election without taking out new papers providing he has registered in his precinct. In the event he has taken out his papers since that date and seven years has elapsed, without having secured his final or second papers, he will be required to declare his intention again according to the recent federal ruling. Any voter who is unavoidably absent from his county, or is sick or quarantined, may register in his precinct without appearing before the board of registration in person, by making a similar application to what would be required of him if he was

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well; so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

MISHAWAKA Y. M. NIGHT CLASSES OPEN MONDAY

The Mishawaka Y. M. C. A. night school will be opened next Monday night and during the winter classes will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings. J. H. McKinney of the Dodge Mfg. Co. will have charge of the mechanical drawing class, which will be the first to be installed. Later an English class will be instituted.

UNDER CIVICS DEPARTMENT.

Arrangements have been completed by the civics department of the Mishawaka Woman's club with Mr. Senger of the Century theater to have the "House of Bondage" shown at the local playhouse Monday, Oct. 5, under the auspices of the department.

This picture is in six parts and is one which every man, woman and child should see.

MORE ATTRACTIONS.

Two more features were added Wednesday afternoon to the attraction list for the country fair to be held here next week. Messrs. W. R. and Harry Worthington, who are looking after this feature of the celebration, closed a contract with a professional high diver, who will give daily exhibitions of his skill. A representative of a show concern will be in the city today and will meet the committee in reference to a marriage-round feature which it is proposed to have in connection with the fair.

IS IMPROVED.

Clarence Richards, 825 E. Fourth st., who has been ill with typhoid fever for the past several weeks, is much improved.

GO TO BREMEN FAIR.

ALLIES' PROGRESS ON BOTH WINGS

Nearly three weeks of constant fighting varied with terrific cannonades and bayonet charges, have worn out the troops on both sides until now the human equation figures as an important factor. It is this phase which makes the arrival of fresh soldiers for the allies so important. Although it has been reported that the German line has been strengthened with fresh troops, military men here are at a loss to understand how they could come from.

Reasons for Lull.
An unofficial dispatch from a point on the Oise said that a lull had fallen in the German bombardment. This could be attributed to two things:

(1)—A change of position.
(2)—Lack of ammunition.

ALLIES' PROGRESS ON BOTH WINGS

Nearly three weeks of constant fighting varied with terrific cannonades and bayonet charges, have worn out the troops on both sides until now the human equation figures as an important factor. It is this phase which makes the arrival of fresh soldiers for the allies so important. Although it has been reported that the German line has been strengthened with fresh troops, military men here are at a loss to understand how they could come from.

Reasons for Lull.
An unofficial dispatch from a point on the Oise said that a lull had fallen in the German bombardment. This could be attributed to two things:

(1)—A change of position.
(2)—Lack of ammunition.

While most of the interest have been directed toward the western end of the battle line, where the French have been striving valiantly to surround and cut off the German right flank, official information shows that the French at the eastern end of the line are pursuing a violent offensive movement against the worn out Germans. The French force which is pushing through the valley of the river Mad has been successful so far as overcoming the resistance of the Germans.

The much activity around Verdun and the heights of the Meuse where the German invaders are still trying to overcome the French defensive works. It is reported that the forts south of Verdun were bombarded all night.

Indians Arouse Admiration.
The French have called finer Indian troops with jubilation and the spectacular appearance of those bronzed infantrymen and troopers from the far east has excited general admiration. The Indian soldiers are dressed in a uniform that is partly occidental and partly oriental. They wear khaki and turbans, but the garb of some of the officers is almost wholly native.

The troops comprise the two infantry divisions and four brigades of cavalry. The men are equipped with the same service rifles as the English soldiers use.

Among the chiefs accompanying the expeditionary force are the Maharajah Sir Pertab Singh, the Maharajah of Bikanir, Patiala, Rutan, Kishenghar and Jodpuri; the nobles of Jaoro, Sachin and Bhopal, and also the Malik Umar Hayat.

Perhaps the most interesting soldier in the group is the veteran Sir Pertab, who is nearly 70 years old. His nephew, only 16 years old, accompanied the army, and begged for a position on the line where he could see some real action. Among the soldiers are 1,000 Thibetan troops whose services were offered by the Dalai Lama of Thibet.

Machine Guns Gifts.
The machine guns which the troops brought with them were for the most part bought with gifts of money and jewels from royal families of India.

The following warm tribute was presented to a French officer by a British officer who took part in the hard fighting around Peronne last week:

"The French advance was subjected to a terrific fire and it seemed impossible for the troops to hold their ground in the face of the concentrated cannonade and rifle blasts. The French artillery had to abandon position after position on account of the deadly accuracy of the German snipers. Finally the shells began to fall around the cross roads where the French commander and his staff were located and the general in command was urged to retreat. 'No,' he said, 'we cannot retreat, we have just got to hold on.'"

"Three farm houses close by were soon in flames from bursting shells, and the men of dragoon were becoming hotter every minute. His bravery saved the day. Later the German fire slackened and the German infantry pushed forward with fixed bayonets. Their attacks were repulsed and darkness found the French occupying the positions which the German artillery had held all day. The grit of that French commander was sublime."
